

BUS DRIVER GIVEN HEARING IN COURT

Decision Expected Today on Charge of "Crashing" Traffic Light

Decision in action brought in municipal court against Harry Holey, Interstate bus driver, for allegedly crashing a red traffic light signal here on July 27, will probably be given this afternoon by Judge William H. Martin.

Holey, who held hearings after noon in which several witnesses and Holey were examined.

Holey attempted to show he did not crash the light saying the light was half way through the intersection when the light flashed yellow and then red.

No decision was given Tuesday. A court stenographer made a record of the testimony.

An adding device features the end of a new reliable lead pencil.

REAL FRIENDS

Volunteers Thresh Crop for Farmer Stricken by Illness

Fifth home of Edward Campbell, trap and one-half miles east of Marion, would be a poor place for a peasant to land these days. Particularly one whose song is burdened with the lack of friendship in the world. Mr. Campbell has proof that there are those in the land who are not so busy thinking of themselves that they can not help a neighbor.

And here's why: Members of Grand Prairie grange, assisted by friends and neighbors of Mr. Campbell, who has been ill for the past 10 months, gathered at his home recently and in one afternoon threshed all his grain. Two threshing machines were brought to the farm and when all was harvested 500 bushels of grain had been taken care of.

GRANGE PLANS PICNIC

Plans for a picnic to be held at Sugar Grove lake Sunday Aug. 12 were made at a meeting of the Grange held last night at the grange hall east of Mansfield. The next regular meeting will be held Aug. 21, when arrangements will be made for a display at the Marion county fair.

WARDWEAR TIRES

a 10,000-mile guaranteed tire at the lowest price ever known!

THE Standard WARDWEAR—while it is our lowest priced tire—is made in the same factories, has the same fine design and carefully supervised construction, as our first-quality RIVERSIDE line.

We emphasize this fact because it is important. Too many motorists are today being confused with price-and-quality comparisons which are deceptive. Many manufacturers insist on calling "first-quality" what are actually their "second-line" tires—and suggesting that their prices are lower than Ward's by comparing them with the prices of Ward's first-quality lines!

This sort of "tangled talk" should be straightened out. All such comparisons should in reality be made only between leading makers' second lines and the WARDWEAR. When they are, Ward's prices will always be found to be lower.

In buying your tires, therefore, don't be misled by off-hand "claims" of any kind. Insist on getting the FACTS. Do not be induced to pay first-quality prices for second-quality tires. Do not be satisfied by less than a definite, specific guarantee, backed by the manufacturer, for 10,000 miles of service. Do this, and you will reach but one conclusion: that WARDWEAR prices save you MORE, and WARDWEAR quality is guaranteed to serve you BETTER, than any other tires in their class!

Visit your nearest Ward Retail Store... examine these splendid-value tires for yourself. Tremendous sales volume, and distribution to the car-owner direct, explain why we can give you such remarkable guaranteed performance at such unusually low prices.

We carry all sizes of tires and tubes to fit all cars—at proportionate savings.

Who makes the best tires today?

ALL facts now unmistakably point to one make of tire as outstandingly the best. We refer to Goodyear.

Clever advertising long ago ceased to sell tires. Car owners have had too much experience to be led by "claims." Most tires are bought today on the basis of their proved performance.

This explains why MILLIONS MORE people ride on Goodyear Tires. Producing millions more tires than any other company, Goodyear is able to give you a very much better quality and yet charge no more.

When urged to accept another tire as "equal to" or "better than" a Goodyear, PLEASE REMEMBER THE FACTS. Don't be "talked out of" the World's Greatest Tires.

Germany Believed Near Goal in Long Fight for Evacuation of Rhineland

Briand and Stresemann Confer Privately on Issue, with Former Suggesting Troops Leave Three Months After Young Plan Is Effective

THE HAGUE, Aug. 2.—Germany appeared today to be in sight of success in her 10-year-old battle to obtain military evacuation of the Rhineland.

Foreign Minister Briand of France and Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, conferred privately upon the Rhineland issue. Afterwards it was learned that M. Briand suggested that evacuation should take place three months after the Young plan for reparation payments is effective.

The Rhineland problem and Great Britain's attempt to revise the Young plan so as to obtain a greater share of Germany's reparation annuities were two of the chief problems confronting "The Hague" conference, which was summoned to solve the last of the international problems left over by the great war.

Want Plan Instant
France, with the support of Belgium, Italy and some of the smaller nations, is seeking to have the Young plan kept intact and ratified by the interested powers in its present form. M. Briand has been using all the diplomatic skill at his command to isolate Britain and force the British delegates to make concessions.

warding reparation apportionments. Indications today were he would be successful.

A spokesman for the British delegation stated that the English had been left out in the cold in the Franco-German negotiations regarding the Rhineland. He said the Briand-Stresemann conference was held at the suggestion of the British, who agreed to accept any agreement reached.

Favors Early Evacuation
The British labor government is upon record as favoring early evacuation of the Rhineland.

Two committees, one dealing with financial problems and the other with political issues, have begun to function.

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, is chairman of the political commission; Baron Houtart of Belgium, heads the financial commission.

The British delegation is expected to oppose certain features of the proposed international bank for the collection and distribution of German reparations as the result of pressure from British financiers.

Mrs. Fillmore Young Undergoes Operation

COUPLE SAVED AFTER FIVE HOURS IN WATER

Former Marion Woman Rescued in Accident That Claims One Life

Word has been received here of a tragedy last Wednesday night that claimed one life and threatened the lives of a former Marion woman and her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Harris, of Ironville, are safe today after having floated five hours in Maumee bay when the back of their motor boat was torn loose by a 40 foot plank which was attached to it by a heavy rope.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris, accompanied by Lee Jones, also of Ironville, saw the oak plank drifting in the bay about a mile from shore. Upon reaching the plank they tied it to the end of the motor boat but because of rough water the plank lashed against the end of the boat and finally broke loose, carrying with it a portion of the boat.

Mrs. Harris grabbed for the plank but missed it. Her husband held her above the water and at the same time held a five gallon gasoline can as a life buoy. He gave the plank to Lee Jones, and encouraged him to hold on, but Jones perished. Early Tuesday morning the Harris' reached the shore, but the body of Jones has not been found.

Mrs. Harris was formerly Miss Inez Orth, of Marion. She was well known here and left the home of her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Smith, Van Buren st., four years ago.

Business men and other citizens of Ironville feel that recognition should be given the heroism of Garnet Harris and President James A. Hicken of the Toledo Safety council has been told of the rescue. Mr. Hicken said he would take the matter up with the council at once.

HYFES MORE ABOUT TODAY

Dr. Howard Morrow, distinguished expert in skin diseases, would like women to know that many of their face troubles come from indigestion. Lupus, so disfiguring, can be cured by injection in the veins of a gold solution. And cancer is treated successfully, when taken early, by radium gold seed planted in the cancer. The seeds are tiny cubes of pure gold containing microscopic particles of radium. Fifteen or twenty may be planted in the tongue. They are never taken out.

DR. FRANK WALKER, who has just spent 18 months in Hawaii studying leprosy, tells you with most scientific reservation that leprosy is not contagious. Lepers that range from the worst, covered their faces and called out "Iceland" went to unnecessary trouble. One leper does not get the disease from another but from a fungus in the ground. Dr. Walker has produced the disease from the soil without the assistance of a leper. Rats are used in the experiments. They have a leprosy of their own and perhaps carry leprosy, as they do bubonic plague and other terrors. Kill rats and flies.

to pay too little heed to sentiment and a bit too much to the urge for economy.

The Canadian province of Saskatchewan cleared $3,083,947 on the sale of liquor for the fiscal year ended March 31. That's mighty poor compensation for the stigma under which the province suffers as a result of engaging in a disreputable business.

Ordered to produce in court a pearl necklace valued at $300,000 which her husband gave her, but for which he neglected to pay, Rosika Dolly told a Paris judge that she had inscribed the pearls somewhere and had been unable to find them. Nobody ever heard of the wife of a hard-working breadwinner of joy and sunshine in paragraphs being guilty of such carelessness with a $300,000 necklace as that!

The Wisconsin plan to defy the constitution of the United States by having the state distill whisky and brew beer and go into the liquor business generally was defeated in the state senate by but three votes. Even a state given to wellness hesitates about enacting the defiance of our basic law thus far.

Four children, whose ages ranged from twelve years down to eighteen months, were killed when the car driven by the oldest son, a boy, was hit by a passenger train at Lake Odessa, Michigan, one day this week.
It should not be necessary to supply a chart to indicate the moral in the story of this tragedy.

Protection Against Aircraft.

It is fairly safe to say that if there is one class which, more than any other, is awake to the possibilities of the future, it is that class which writes insurance policies against any possible risk we may face. A risk against which they will not offer odds is almost inconceivable, but their regular policy forms naturally are written to provide protection against such hazards as may be anticipated in the natural line of events.

How closely they keep to the trend of the day is made evident by the fact that insurance policies are being offered against damage sustained from air machines. They are putting out a regular form policy which costs the insured $1.25 a thousand for a term of three years which gives protection against any loss the insured may suffer on his property as the result of the operation of an airplane over it. To illustrate: they will wage a property-owner $5,000 against $6.25, provided his property will bear insurance to the extent of $5,000, that his property will not be damaged to that extent for three years as the result of an air machine accident and agree to pay him any sum up to that amount to the extent of such damage as he may suffer.

In other words, the underwriters have recognized a situation which already exists, and will be more and more complicated each succeeding year as aviation is developed.

Is it not about time that there is legislative action to afford this protection at the expense of the owners of aircraft rather than at the cost of those who are exposed to a risk over which they haven't any possible control and for which they are in no way responsible?
Isn't it about time that there is legislation to bar the use of the air for flying purposes to any and all who are unable or unwilling to enter into some form of undertaking which will guarantee redress for damage done by them?

Some cities have already taken action looking to the flying of aircraft over city limits excepting along fixed lanes. Is there not need of such legislation the land over, and with it the commissioning of air police to see that it is enforced?

Please do not smile. The idea may seem freakish, but it's far more than a possibility that many of us in life today will see it executed into an actuality.

Ground for Enthusiasm.

There is ample justification for the enthusiasm in Germany over the splendid showing made by the North German Lloyd liner, Bremen, on her maiden trip which gave her undisputed title as "Queen of the Seas." Cutting practically nine hours off the existing westward record and three of the eastward before her machinery had attained the smooth-running qualities which come with use alone is an achievement of which the Germans may well be proud. It gives them positive assurance that they are once more in the way to attain, if they have not already attained, the proud place they held in commercial shipping before the World war, which caused them to lose all their chief vessels and reduced their gross tonnage to but a seventh of what it was at the time war was declared.

The Bremen's exploits have done more than that. They have brought recognition to the outside world, and to any doubting Thomas there may have been at home, that Germany has come back. A people can not build up a merchant marine such as Germany has today, and yet see ahead no future. The restored German merchant marine, means restored faith and confidence in themselves and restored confidence in Germany as a nation among the great nations of the earth.

But so free and so great has been the commendation of the Bremen's feats, that it is possible that tribute to German initiative and German resourcefulness has been somewhat overdone. While the lines of the Bremen have done much to give her the great speed she has, there is no question that the chief cause of her speed is her propulsion system of high-pressure superheat turbines, a system which has delivered beyond the expectations of its builders. We have seen credit given in type to the builders of the Bremen's engines, yet credit for the system must go to the Southern Pacific line for this class of engines, which preceded the German liner in demonstrating the speed possibilities and economies of this system as applied to commercial liners when it placed its Dixie in operation in 1918.

After lengthy experiments by its engineering experts, the Canadian Pacific also decided to adopt the high pressure superheat turbine system for its new fleet of four cabin liners of the "Duchess" class, this year placed in the St. Lawrence-Liverpool trade.
Not only have these liners proved a revelation as cabin liners, but the success and economies of their propulsion system far exceeded expectations.

So systematically have the "Duchesses" been breaking each other's time that the Canadian Pacific in constructing the Empress of Britain, a great 40,000-ton liner, 730 feet long, with a beam of ninety-seven feet, which will be powered the same way and in many respects surpass any liner afloat and possibly prove a contender for Atlantic speed honors.
She will carry but 1,100 passengers against the 1,600 passengers of the "Duchess" boats of half her size, but all her first-class staterooms will be outside rooms and the beauty and elegance of her public rooms will surpass those of any vessel afloat. In a word, what she loses in passenger-carrying capacity is to be made up in elegance and speed. She is to ply between Southampton, Cherbourg and Quebec, and such will be her speed that she will sail from Cherbourg to Quebec easily in five days, with power to spare.

Edith Sitwell says that "if women are going to continue to show their legs as freely as they show their faces, there should be heavily parlor for legs." The idea is not so bad, but honestly, Edith, aren't a lot of 'em beyond human aid?

The liquor control board of Ontario, Canada, is seeking to reduce whisky sales by encouraging the drinking of light French wines and cider. And here our friends inclined toward moisture have been telling us right along that the liquor situation in Toronto was simply ideal!

It has developed that the twenty-eight-year-old blond, who is under arrest in Brussels charged with having married fifty husbands at various times, was also engaged to 702 other susceptible gentlemen whose acquaintance she had formed. The appeal of variety must be somewhat strong to her.

One hundred thousand women are expected to join in a movement to clean up and beautify the city of Chicago in readiness for her world fair in 1933. If they will accept a tip from the outside, it is that the surest method for making the city attractive to fair visitors would be to drive out crooked officials and gunmen and gangsters—a job which has been sadly neglected thus far.

"I question the intelligence of any one," says President Garfield, of Williams college, "who thinks that men can be made peaceful by force." It would not be so bad were only an occasional college president afflicted that way, but, seemingly, the collegiate woods are full of them.

Bernhard Baron, London's millionaire cigaret manufacturer, who gave away $10,000-000 during the last few years in an effort to die poor, failed in the accomplishment of his desire. Spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs never suffer fates like that. They're strong enough to know that all the joy to be gotten out of life must be had as they go along from day to day, and they blow their wealth accordingly.

The Columbus Council of Civic Associations has recommended the removal of the trees in east Broad street in the state capital between Fourth street and Parsons avenue, holding that the elimination of the parkways will work for "the safety of both life and limb of both motorists and pedestrians." And yet there are large cities which maintain hills and parks in wide streets to add to the safety of pedestrians. Anyway, isn't this surrender of just about everything to the interests of motorists being a trifle overdone?

ANOTHER AMAZING ENDURANCE RECORD.

Rheumatism Due to Infection.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Habit, custom and tradition have used in our minds all sorts of convictions about things. A notable example is the popular idea that rheumatism is the result of exposure to weather. Cold and moisture are supposed to produce the symptoms usually called "rheumatism."

Of course, scientific physicians no longer hold to this belief. They recognize rheumatism as merely the evidence of some sort of an infection.
They do not dispute that cold and damp weather may increase the pain, but the disease itself they regard as being due to an infection.

It isn't easy to get away from ideas we have held all our lives. We hate to be convinced that what we have believed for so long is wrong. We must keep some local disease, in this case, teeth, or elsewhere, to find the real cause of this ailment.

Where is there a man or woman past fifty who can not recall running past a neighbor's house and on the other side of the street at that, a house where there was a sign, "males" or "females"?
You even held your breath and perhaps plunged your nose tightly so not to breathe in the "stench."

But we are forced to accept these "new fangled" ideas about the "contagious" diseases. So we must revise our thought about rheumatism. We must seek some local disease, in this case, teeth, or elsewhere, to find the real cause of this ailment.

There are various types of rheumatism. It may be acute or chronic; it may be infectious or in the joints. It may be called "rheumatoid" or "gout." It has various names, but no matter what it is or what form it takes, the causes are the same.

Many young children have adenoids and diseased tonsils. They may be harboring dangerous germs.
Not only rheumatism, but also heart disease may be traced to adenoids and tonsils.

You should talk with your doctor if you suspect trouble of this sort. Early attention may save your child all sort of pain and inconvenience.
Rheumatism may be treated off and a lifetime of comfort provided by your foresight.

A month of hot teeth, with pussy gums and abscesses, will lay the foundation for such diseases. If the tonsils or adenoids are sore to the touch, or painful, take pains to find out what is wrong. Some remote disturbance, easily corrected by proper treatment, may be responsible for unnecessary disease.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS

M. D. Q.—Can constipation be corrected?

A.—You should correct your diet by eating simple, well cooked food. Avoid foods which are in fats and starches. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

C. B. Q.—I am very subject to colds. What tonic should I take to build up my system and prevent them?

A.—Is there any danger of getting germs from a person who has cancer?

A.—Take cod liver oil as a general tonic. This will build up the general health and make you less susceptible to colds.

M. D. Q.—What causes my hair to come out in spots?

A.—Alopecia in spots is usually due to alopecia areata. For further particulars send self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

N. M. Q.—Is it harmful to eat raw corn meal?
A.—This is merely a habit and should be overcome.—Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Feature Ser-

Editorial Opinion.

THE UNCHANGING SOVEREIGN.

It is to be hoped that Senator Borah and other well-meaning advocates of American recognition of Russia are not continuing their reading of the news from London to daily developments in the naval limitation situation. During the past few days the negotiations for recognition of Anglo-Russian diplomatic relations have been broken off. With every desire to rethink the official attitude, the previous Labor government effected, Foreign Secretary Henderson had to admit that Moscow presents a snag on which London's plans have been abruptly wrecked.

It was informed that the price of the soviet's readmission to British favor was twofold.

—A guarantee that Russian debts to foreign governments were recognized and would be paid, and —A pledge that Communist propaganda in British territory would cease.

Russia's response to these demands was a flat refusal to discuss them until after diplomatic recognition was accorded and ambassadors had been exchanged. Thereupon Downing Street notified the Kremlin that their discussions could not proceed.

It is not surprising that the MacDonald government is unwilling to fraternize with the soviet again on the right-uncertain system. The Labor premise has not forgotten that his preceding term of office was brought to an untimely end, by a year, after the discovery that Communist Russia was grossly abusing the privileges which diplomatic recognition by Great Britain had allowed it. The Labor government now intrenched in power do not intend to be hoist by the same petard a second time. A burnt child like a singed child fears the fire.

The Washington government is entitled to derive special satisfaction from the attitude of the British authorities. The Russian policy of the United States is on all fours with that now proclaimed by the London Labor administration. Our reasons for withholding recognition from the Communists are concerned, too, with the security of debts and our determination that American soil shall not become the stamping ground of systematic and subversive red propaganda.

Now that the two great English-speaking democracies are so determined on record with regard to Communist intrigue, the demand of Nationalist China in its pending dispute with Russia over the Chinese Eastern railway, assumes particular significance. Nanking is no less insistent than London and Washington that the Bear "which walks like a man" shall at least have his Communist claws drawn before he is permitted to tread the paths which nations have marked out for their own happiness and security.—Washington Star

Pyramids and Nile Country.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

I dare say that no one ever has visited Egypt without making a trip to the pyramids.
And no wonder. They are a sight like of which is to be found nowhere else in the world.

I hardly need describe the pyramids. Everyone is acquainted with their general appearance, so I shall only say a little about them.
The Great pyramid is one of the most amazing monuments in the world, solely because of the vast labor required in its building. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 blocks of stone, each weighing about two and a half tons, in this tomb. Herodotus wrote about it years and years ago, and to him may be given credit for the knowledge that it took 100,000 men employed constantly throughout twenty years to build it.

The interior of this pyramid, and the vast majority of the others, is hardly worth visiting. The passageways are small and the air almost unbearable. The treasures and antiquities have long since been removed. The pyramids are worthy of a visit mainly because of the monumental work they represent.

In addition to the Great, or Cheops, pyramid, others are the Cheops, or Cheops, pyramid, but so placed on a slight elevation that it appears taller, and the Third pyramid, that of King Menkure. These are all fairly close to one another. Further away are the pyramids of Gizeh, erected on the edge of the Libyan desert.

Sunsets viewed from near the pyramids are marvelous. In the air there is always a great quantity of shifting dust. It floats on the air currents and as it catches the last long rays of the sinking sun, a most beautiful picture in ever-changing colors is unfolded.
Sixteen miles up the Nile river from Col-lo is the ancient city of Memphis—the first capital of Egypt. There is little but ruins left in Memphis. Among these are two colossal statues, erected in honor of Ramses, II and thought to have marked the entrance to a great temple.

The country around Memphis is one of the most fertile spots in all Egypt. Nearby are the ruins of Sakkarah. There is found one of the most unusual objects in all the world—the "Tomb of the Sacred Bull."

One of the earliest forms of devotion in Egypt was the worship of the bull. The sacred bull was housed in a temple and when he died, his remains were embalmed and placed in a huge sarcophagus which, in turn, was placed in one of the rock chambers of this underground tomb. The tomb is divided into three galleries which have an aggregate length of 1,010 feet. Sakkarah also offers another group of pyramids, including a remarkable step-pyramid about 200 feet high.

"Why a thousand? I'm only engaged to

"An American tourist."

In San Francisco.

San Francisco, Aug. 5.—To my notion the two most romantically interesting cities in America are New Orleans and San Francisco.
Certainly, outside of Paris, no city has learned so successfully to mix work and play and to joy life to the fullest as this.

San Francisco is modern and nearly-but yet its historic past sticks through. Along its tortuous up-and-down-hill paths, as well as along broad flat avenues you feel the breath of old Spain, of the Argonauts, of the Vigilantes, of Canton, of the mountains and the seven seas.

It is difficult to imagine that in the space of a single lifetime, San Francisco has sprung up from a tiny mission rancho to one of the world's most cosmopolitan centers. Add to that the achievement of being leveled by fire and built up again in the interim.

I was fortunate on this trip to appreciate the city from beautiful Del Monte by motor in the sunny glare of a dew-spangled morning. The tumbling hills seemed actual, the life and the soaring skyline radiated joy.
The air was tangy, the nature's own rose.
If you care for a chunk of commerce bluffs.

When you come to San Francisco you must observe the climate and here's my notice.
The difference between summer and winter temperature is 6.3 degrees. But if you are caught in late afternoon without a light overcoat when the fog and chill come to you you are in for a mess of teeth chattering.

Market street is the city's big artery, the Broadway. If you get lost keep on walking you always come back to Market. In fact the only way to keep off Market is to leave town. Pay a price, and the city is yours.
Fascinating with its cypress trees, hills and majestic mountains with snowy forest blue.

Jubilee's Partner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

THURSDAY The morning was dampish but sunny when I woke up but me and Jubilee felt more hungry than happy. I was thinking about peanuts and how sore he got because I hung onto his cow's tail. If he had wanted his friends to hang onto his cow's tail he ought to get him a guinea pig. I would like to see anyone hang onto a guinea pig's tail. It isn't being done. I made up my mind that maybe I had better buy him one just to show him that all rats look alike to me and that made me feel better so I got up and let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and I put on my pants and went down the stairs and milked the cow and let her do it and I strained the milk and fed my face.

My father asked me if I didn't enjoy my life and I said maybe I did. I said the first morning that I could walk after I was born he had put a milkpail in my hand and taken me to the door and pointed to the barn and told me to get busy and I have been spending the most of my time in the barn milking with cows ever since. I said though there is a bright side to everything. Then he said I mean to tell him I have got a bright side and I have been concealing it from him all these years and I told him that maybe he hadn't seen it because it was on my mother's side of me. So then my grandfather who in also on my mother's side laughed and gave me a nickel and I rolled. He said I made him think of a sharpshooter. They had in their army I didn't know about that, but I was glad to have the nickel.

When we were on the way to the pasture I saw Peanuts watching me like he was waiting for me to swing into his cow's tail again and I wondered what he had up his sleeve and I told the last bag of feed on the pile to swing onto Peanuts' cow's tail and when he said he was afraid of Peanuts I told him he didn't need to be afraid what I was along. So he took a run and grabbed her half wax up the tail and she gave a jump and the last bag of feed fell and let go and stood looking at his hand and we all ran over and looked except Peanuts and the poor pup had a fit hook with a piece of thread in it in his hand. Peanuts had tried to the top of his cow's tail among the hair but it had caught the wrong suker. At first we thought the barb had went in but when we looked close we saw it was just down to the top of the barb but the barb wasn't caught. So I gave it a quick pull and it was out. Then I was surprised when the last bag of feed said it he got blood poison and died. I would get hung. I told him I would more like get a pension and they all howled him. But he thinks I put it there.

There are six basic colors used in this new method of mixing shades. They are white, a yellowish cream, rose, a tannish rose green and a violet which really is a deep lavender. The average complexion demands a white yellow and rose. These three colors are blended to suit the skin, a fair complexioned person requiring a larger amount of white and rose than of yellow. But for the brunette type of skin yellow and rose are used in greater proportion than white. They are simply blended to harmonize with the individual skin.

As a beginning try two teaspoons of each of white and rose and one of yellow for the fair complexion. Should this be too white for your skin add a bit more rose and yellow. If too pink add a little more white and yellow.

That is the OLD STORY about blending face powder. The NEW ANGLES discussed today has to do with the actual blending of the basic or foundation shade of powder to match your complexion.

"Silver Fleet" Scheduled to Stop Here in Last Leg of 30,000-Mile Journey 15 Motor Cars, Manned by Uniformed Corps of Pilots, in Spectacular Caravan Assembled by Goodrich Co; Due Here at 3 p. m. Friday

Marion will be visited by the Goodrich "Silver Fleet," Friday, when the widely advertised caravan of 15 motor cars will stop here on its round-trip tour across the country.

The fleet which is making stops at all important points along its extensive routing is scheduled to arrive in Marion at 3 o'clock in the afternoon accompanied by an escort of machines representing local dealers who sell the different makes of cars in the caravan.

The event will meet the fleet as it comes here on its way from Lima.
Photograph Planned

One of the features of the stop here will be a visit of the fleet and escort to the Harding Memorial where a photograph will be taken for publication in a Saturday Evening Post advertisement. This will take place some time between 3 and 6 o'clock.

During the greater part of the three hour period the fleet will be on exhibition in West Church St. in the vicinity of the Horton Battery Service quarter local agents for the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co.

After 6 o'clock the cars will be taken to the different local agents headquarters representing the various makes of machines. Each of these agencies will display its particular member of the fleet until Saturday morning when the caravan will continue its trip eastward the next stop being at Mansfield.

Represent of Colleges

Driver of the 15 cars all college graduates representing 11 different colleges will be guests at Hotel Hurling.

The fleet is manned by 19 of these young collegians who are under the direction of L. E. Mumford. It will offer veterans of the army and navy. Arrangements for the visit to Marion were announced today by L.
E. Mumford, district advertising manager of the Goodrich Rubber Co., who came here to plan the details.

The purpose of this well known tour, Mr. Mumford said, is to demonstrate Goodrich tire performance and to give motorists of this city and vicinity a demonstration of the manner in which Goodrich tires have stood the test of actual use since 1911.

During the past 10 years our company has worn down 1 junk tire than 100 motor cars which have tested tires to the grand total of 50 000 000 tire miles. For every tire that our technical test fleet wears out, Goodrich spends $1 000 in testing operations.

Thorough Testing

"We believe that motorists will be interested in knowing just how extensively and how consistently Goodrich tests tires—always seeking to learn something that will lead to improvement. We owe to this considerable program to a great extent the uniform performance of Silverfleet tires with highest average mileage.

All the cars in the fleet are pointed a gleaming silver color and the young pilots who are graduates of 11 different colleges are in uniform Mumford said. Their performance has the snap and vigor of military response. Several of them have enviable records as part of this caravan for future Goodrich executives. For the past year they have been in exercises at the Akron factory while in sales training school there. The Silver Fleet and its snappy pilots are an inspiring spectacle.

The caravan started at New York January 23 by Mayor Jimmy Walker who christened the fleet with a impressive ceremony. Commander Schaefer has a letter of greeting from Mayor Walker of New York. The fleet crossed the continent in one route and is returning by another.
Silverfleet tires are being tested under every road and weather condition that one might imagine.

The fleet will arrive here after a trip of more than 30 000 miles over the nation's highways and byways.

Yale Baseball Stadium for Municipal Music

NEW HAVEN Conn. The architecture of Yale's great baseball stadium long has been a subject of interest to citizens here who frequently have seen the use of the place for musical events and then turned it over to the municipal music commission for the experiment of fitting a free concert of classical music.

As a result the city for the first time has joined the ranks of the municipalities that are at great expense providing real music for the enjoyment of its citizens. The baseball stadium proved more than large for people who appreciate good music.

Silver Fleet

ANTI KNOCK

No dope or artificial colorings are added to Silver Flash. It is pure, undoctored gasoline, refined again and again to remove all impurities, and make it superlatively ANTI-KNOCK.

GOODRICH knows tires, of course. But, through the nation-wide run of the Silver Fleet, Goodrich has also come to know gasoline. They know that good gasoline is as essential to motoring satisfaction and enjoyment as good tires. So, for their stay in Marion with the Silver Fleet, they wanted to make certain of obtaining the best gasoline possible. Naturally they selected Silver Flash.

WILL MODIFY SMOOT SUGAR TARIFF SCALE

Poll Shows Desire To Apply Rates on Raw Instead of Refined Sugar

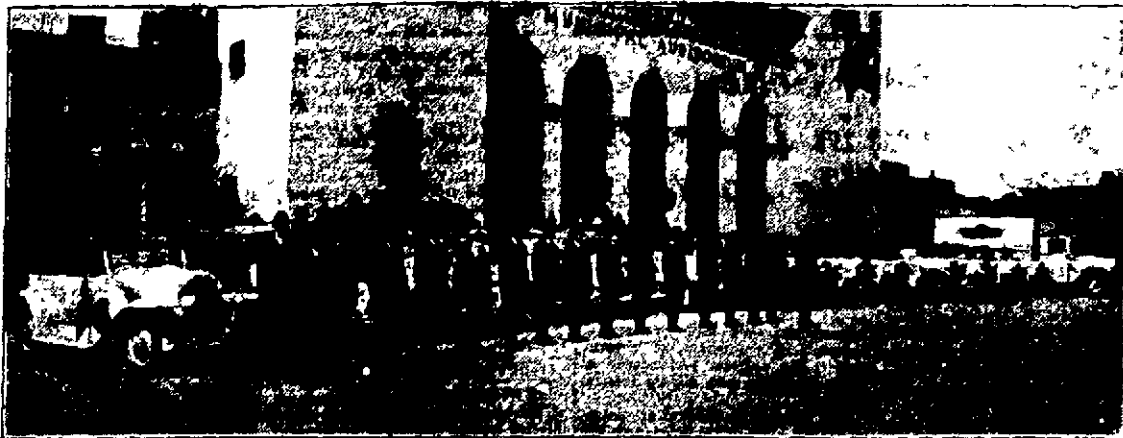

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Smoot tariff scale of sugar tariffs which provoked an outburst of condemnation from sugar shippers last 12 days and eastern exporters, will be materially modified before the Republican members of the Senate finance committee approve it. It was reported today.

A poll of the Republican "staff" indicated they favored inclusion in it of the scale to apply its rates on raw sugar instead of upon refined sugar as proposed by Senator Hiram Smith, Republican of Utah, its author. The Republican committee is, however, divided little sympathy for the scale although Smoot may win over some support to his personal explanation of the proposal given this morning at the committee's secret session.

The scale, however, has been regarded from pillar to post by shippers, importers and even beet sugar companies. A long list of witnesses told the committee in the presence of Democratic members that the scale would provoke trade, price manipulation, drive out western beet sugar concerns out of business and fail to help beet growers, farmers.

The Republican members of the committee were not so hostile as the witnesses but they must be won over by Smoot before they will even adopt his idea of a sliding scale.

Famous Love Stories From Mythology

BY FLSIE CLEVIN

Perseus, Aided by the Winged Shoes of Mercury and Gorgon's Head, Wins the Beautiful Andromeda

Young Perseus, according to the ancient legend, flushed with his recent victory over Medusa, whom he had decapitated, flew exultantly over the earth with the aid of the winged shoes loaned him by Mercury. By chance he came to Ethiopia, of which Cepheus, king, was just in time, for the royal were in sore trouble. Cassiopeia, queen of the Ethiopians, had enraged the sea nymphs by displaying their beauty. By way of punishment the fair demigods of the deep sent a frightful monster to lay waste the coast. Cepheus, very distressed over the injury brought up to his people, consulted the oracle. He was told that an even heavier curse must be exacted from him before the sea nymphs would be appeased. His own daughter, Andromeda—an extraordinarily beautiful girl—must be sacrificed to the bottom of the monster's gape. Cepheus, with a heavy heart, at the thought—but there was nothing to do but comply. And so, as Perseus, who, with his father, had sailed down and then an alarm, sped to the aid of his father, he found the girl chained to a rock and the monster's head lowered. Perseus, with his sword, was dazzled by the Gorgon's head.

Why are you chained in that manner, he asked. At first the girl was overcome with grief and could not speak. After a little, though, she became reassured and explained her dreadful fate to Perseus. Even as she explained her story the sea serpent, hissing in an evil fashion, came first to rest in the sea and then, with a roar, upon the chained maiden.

Perseus looked about him and saw Cepheus and his queen, appealingly warning their child to fly, and at the fate of their daughter.

Perseus said: "There will be time enough for tears. This hour is all we have for rescue. My rank as the son of Jove might make me a captive as a sailor but I will try to win her by my sword's aid. If she is rescued by my valor I demand her as my reward."

The parents eagerly consented and promised a reward. When upon Perseus leaped into combat with the monster. Cepheus, his power of flight he kept above and behind the death-dealing fangs waiting his chance. Still his Perseus, cheered.

MISS PAULINE VANDOCK

"Konjola proved to me that it is worthy of all the wonderful praise it is getting," said Miss Pauline Vandock, 211 East Park Street, Toledo, Ohio. "For several months my system was in a rundown condition. My stomach was one source of trouble. Gas and indigestion followed my meals. My liver was sluggish. I felt tired all the time and had no pep or ambition. My back ached, and my nerves were weak."

Imagine my surprise when Konjola relieved me almost immediately. It toned up my entire system, and made me feel like a different person. My stomach functions normally, and my liver and kidneys never cause me the slightest trouble. I have more strength and vitality, and have more color in my cheeks. I have all the praise in the world for Konjola."

Luxury to Find No Lap in John Coolidge's Home

Florence Trumbull To Start as Modestly as Her Mother Did

WHEN John Coolidge, son of the former President of the United States, and Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut, are married, probably this Fall, they will begin housekeeping on an income just about equal to that with which the parents of the bride began a little more than 25 years ago. And they'll start right in "doing without" things, too.

The bridegroom-to-be called the White House home for years. The bride-to-be has grown up surrounded by every luxury. But they'll establish a home in New Haven just as modest as that which Mr. and Mrs. John

Five Hours' Sleep

Thousands of men and women do not average more than five hours' sleep a night due to two frequent night calls. Broken rest quickly puts nervous on edge, saps vitality and strength. FLORENCE TRUMBULL and Hartford railroad. Mrs. Trumbull continued: "Of course they will have to begin housekeeping in a very modest way. But that's all the more fun, we think. The time to begin doing without things is when you are young and as I look back on the years when I was first married I realize that the Governor and I really enjoyed trying to get along on what we had."

"We were talking it over just the other night and remembering that John and Florence will have a little more to start with than the Governor and I had when we set up housekeeping. Truly, of course, money went further in those days than it does now. And people didn't want so much—there wasn't so much to want."

It is a fact the paternal home of Governor and Mrs. Trumbull at Plainville, with its gardens and garages, close to the big factory of the Trumbull Electric Company and the Governor's own private flying field, is the result of hard-earned prosperity following years of discouragement and failure. He is quick to attribute much of his success to the encouragement of his wife.

While Florence Trumbull is dividing her time between summer sports and the framing of distasteful and table linen, John Coolidge will be busy at his desk. They will be married without occasion in the Plainville church the Trumbulls attended or the executive mansion.

These members of two of America's most prominent families will be Mr. and Mrs. John Coolidge—just a young couple trying to get along.

Women of Capital Play Market for Spare Cash

WASHINGTON — Wives of the wealthy and prominent in the nation's Capital have joined the search for the Golden Fleece.

They are forsaking the tea table and the bridge score pad for the stock market and the financial sheets of the metropolitan dailies.

And they take their medicine quietly when they lose. They don't "quail" as much as men, taking them all in all, one official of a large brokerage house here declared.

"What's doing in steel?" and "How are the motors?" now are the questions instead of "Should I have finessed that queen?" and "Didn't you just adopt Lillian's new dress?" among Washington women.

Long reputed for their filigree and gossip, these women have taken up seriously this business of making money in the stock market. One of the largest brokerage houses in the Capital has found its trade among women so profitable that it has installed a women's board room, where the female customers, wearing smart Parisian gowns and fresh from the beauty parlor, may sit through the day in comfort and watch the movements of the New York Board.

Trade Seriously
During the last two weeks, the brokerage house which built a board room for women handled more business for its female customers than for men, one official declared.

"These women trade seriously, and they trade in large sums," he said. "They aren't afraid to take a chance, and they aren't the clinging vine type that comes whining back after they lose. They win or lose without a whimper. Equally, I've seen them all here and make a hundred thousand and not show it by the flicker of an eyelash. They're game, these present day slim wires and business women."

Most of the customers of the new women's board room, the official said, are wealthy, but the few who "play the market" on a slim reserve are just as game as their richer sisters.

"We don't encourage women who haven't the means to foot with the stock market," an official declared, "but some who have a small capital seem to make money out of it, and take their losses as well as those who can afford to lose large sums."

Quick Recovery
"We have one customer here, a regular, who sold her automobile about three months ago to put up more margin on stock when we were forced to call her. She got the money, and now has recovered most of the three thousand dollars she lost that day in a depression spell."

The new board room women is similar to that for men, except that it is furnished a little more pretentiously, and has women attendants. Heavily upholstered chairs are grouped around comfortably, and the women can smoke all they want. Most of them take advantage of the smoking privilege, and from opening time until the market closes, a glimpse of the women's board room will disclose a charming group of women sitting around, watching the board, smoking and talking.

Most of the talk is of the stock market, but there is always time during a lull in the market for discussion of current matters in Washington's social circles. The recent social furor concerning the status of Mrs. Dolly Gann, vice-president Curtis' sister, as his hostess, was well aired in the salons of Washington brokerage houses, it was said.

Samuel Rosoff Returns to U. S. Promoting Subway Project

NEW YORK—An immigrant, who came to America 40 years ago as a galley boy on a freighter, came to these shores once again as the financier of a $200,000,000 subway for Moscow.

Samuel Rosoff returned to the United States after a tour of Europe and a visit to Moscow, Russia, his birthplace, and will call on Secretary of State Henry M. Stimson to obtain permission to seek $100,000,000 capital for a projected Moscow subway and waterworks, a contract for which has been offered on condition that half of the $200,000,000 cost be extraneously provided.

"I love America," said Rosoff. "I'd rather be a lamp-post on Broadway than the czar of all the Russians."

20-Mule-Team Akin
Takes First Plane Ride

DEATH VALLEY JUNCTION, Cal.—"Twenty-Mule-Team" Akin, octogenarian pioneer in mule-drawn freighting from the borax mines here, alighted today from his first airplane ride, and liked it.

Far from making disparaging comments about present-day haste, and voicing a desire for the good old days when men were men and stayed on terra firma, the aged pioneer said: "Nothing like it. I don't see now how I'm going to stay on the ground."

Akin was an important figure in transportation struggles of early California. A friend of "Borax" Smith, he operated two twenty-mule teams from the mines at Columbus Marsh and Death Valley.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

Five demonstration units such as the one pictured here have spent months touring the State demonstrating that Sobio Ethyl does stop knocks.

THOUSANDS HAVE WATCHED THIS ENGINE

PROVE THAT—there is a difference in gasoline

THE demonstration itself is simple. An electric knock-detecting device is attached to the engine.

Ordinary gasoline is run into the carburetor. The engine, choked with carbon, starts. Immediately knocking commences. The electric light flashes. The audience hears the knock—sees the knock.

Then the fuel is changed to Sobio Ethyl, without stopping the motor. Almost instantly the knocking stops. It's the Ethyl brand of anti-knock compound that does it! The light goes out. The motor picks up speed—proof of its increased power—runs more smoothly and more evenly.

The simple sincerity of this test has made Sobio users of thousands of Ohio motorists. Other thousands have chosen Sobio Ethyl after making their own tests in their own cars. See the Sobio anti-knock demonstration if you have an opportunity. If not, put Sobio Ethyl into your own gasoline tank and test it any way you wish. Convince yourself that there IS a difference in gasoline.
